Know Your Ingredients

A quick guide to the ingredients featured in our IV menu.

Alpha-Lipoic Acid

A compound involved in cellular energy production that also acts as an antioxidant.

Amino Blend/Complex

A combination of amino acids—the building blocks your body uses to make proteins.

Biotin

Also known as vitamin B7, biotin helps the body metabolize fats, carbohydrates, and proteins.

Diphenhydramine (Benadryl)

An antihistamine that blocks histamine to relieve allergic symptoms. May cause drowsiness.

Glutamine

An amino acid used to build proteins and provide fuel for intestinal and immune cells.

Glutathione

An antioxidant made by the body that helps protect cells from oxidative damage.

Ketorolac

A prescription anti-inflammatory medication (NSAID) used for short-term management of moderately severe acute pain.

L-Taurine

A naturally occurring compound involved in fluid balance and normal nerve and muscle function.

Magnesium

An essential mineral involved in muscle function, nerve signaling, and energy production.

Mineral Blend/Complex

A combination of minerals involved in normal cellular function. Ingredients vary by formulation.

Vitamin B-Complex

A group of B vitamins that help your body convert food into usable energy.

Vitamin B6 (Pyridoxine)

A B vitamin involved in protein metabolism, immune function, and the production of brain-signaling chemicals.

Vitamin B12

A vitamin needed for healthy nerve function, red blood cell formation, and DNA production.

Vitamin C

An essential vitamin involved in collagen production, immune function, and antioxidant protection.

Zinc

An essential mineral involved in immune function, wound healing, and the production of proteins and DNA.
